ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The Cornell Real Estate Council (CREC), with the generous support of Cornell University, the Cornell Center for Real Estate and Finance, the SC Johnson College of Business, the College of Architecture Art & Planning and the Cornell Baker Program in Real Estate, is proud to present the 39th Annual Cornell Real Estate Conference. This year's conference will again be virtual taking place over four days via a series of engaging webinars featuring the industry's top thought leaders. Last year's conference attracted over 5,000 attendees. To address today's prevailing themes, our featured speakers will share their views on the outlook for commercial and residential real estate — specifically how different property types are adapting to the economic, technological and lifestyle trends that have accelerated due to the pandemic. As a result of our growing list of generous sponsors, there is no registration fee for the conference. Most of the funds raised will be used to support our mission to nurture emerging talent and build diversity within the real estate industry. Whether you are an undergraduate or graduate student, alumnus, alumna or experienced professional, we hope you will join us for a powerful conference.

- expanded opportunities in the real estate industry for women and people of color
- real estate career guidance
- scholarships/grants

Last year's event attracted over 5,000 attendees from around the world, and we hope to exceed that number this year—so we are confident your support will not go unnoticed.

YOUR SPONSORSHIP FUNDS AT WORK

To oversee the distribution of funds, CREC has assembled a Diversity, Equity & Inclusion Advisory Board chaired by CREC Board Member, Lynn Gray. Please be sure to check out the profiles of the Advisory Board members here.

The Cornell Real Estate Council is pleased to announce the first of many recipients of these sponsorship funds:

- Organization: Cornell Future Architect Award and Summer Scholars (in partnership with Cornell AAP)
- Purpose: Contribution to the CFAA award fund will support the participation of minority or disadvantaged high school students, or items affiliated with program operation. To learn more about the program, you can review the proposal here.

- Organization: Philip Payton Society for Minority Professionals in Real Estate Case Competition
- Purpose: The PPS Case Competition is an initiative designed to introduce minority undergraduate students to the real estate industry through a 3-part learning series and a capstone case analysis. In just 2 short years, the competition has grown to include 14 participating HBCUs and almost 50 students. On April 9th, 5 finalist teams presented their analyses to a panel of judges. You can watch a recording of the presentations and award announcements here.

In addition to allocating funds, CREC has developed and nurtured a series of initiatives to support inclusivity of underrepresented populations in real estate, expand real estate career education and foster mentorship. These initiatives include Coffee Chats, a bi-weekly virtual series held this past Spring featuring female industry professionals, as well as Career Circles, a mentorship program, which launched its second iteration with the start of the Fall semester.
